DEFINING THE FUTURE OF DERMATOLOGY

A Message from Our Conference Chair

Now heading into our fourteenth successful year, on behalf of the ODAC conference meeting organizers, faculty, and advisors, I am very excited to announce that we are moving to a new location. In 2017, the Orlando Dermatology Aesthetic and Clinical Conference is migrating south to Miami!

After 13 memorable years of calling Orlando home, we decided we needed to make the move in light of several motivating factors including improved venue space and services, more direct flight choices from most major US cities and better weather in mid-January.

While we're truly excited about the new location we're even more excited about the 2017 ODAC program, promising to deliver a cutting edge, comprehensive, and compelling look at dermatology through the eyes of the physician and the experts - striking the perfect balance of medical, surgical and hands-on aesthetic training.

In keeping with our core mission of 'defining the future of dermatology,' ODAC will again bring attendees the 'What's Hot' panel discussion. Join us to witness first-hand the next generation of exciting products and equipment, as well as cutting-edge procedures and real world techniques. This will prepare you to better serve patients, and enrich and enhance your overall practice. We will proudly continue our partnership with the Advanced Resident Training and Education (ARTE) scholarship program, welcoming over 150 dermatology residents from across the country. Plus, offering the inaugural board review course.

In today's competitive medical climate, successful dermatologists know the importance of staying relevant in our rapidly evolving field. For fourteen years the ODAC educational program has presented progressive medical, surgical, and cosmetic techniques delivered by the foremost thought leaders in dermatology in a highly interactive and impactful way.

Join us in Miami in January to build critical skills and help expand your offerings to ensure the continued success of your career and your practice.

PROGRAM & CE INFORMATION

Upon completion, participants should be able to:

1. Summarize current and emerging therapies that hold promise for the effective treatment of skin cancers including actinic keratosis, basal cell carcinoma and melanoma.
2. Define intrinsic and extrinsic factors of the normal aging process in patients with all skin types.
3. Select and formulate the appropriate aesthetic treatment plan using neurotoxins, dermal fillers, laser and light-based energy therapy technologies and cosmeceutical products in patients of all skin types who seek improvement in facial and skin appearance.
4. Compare patient selection, choice of injectable products and technique required to avoid potential complications and achieve optimal patient outcomes.
5. Express current understanding of the pathophysiology of acne as it relates to effective diagnosis and treatment.
6. Discuss current theories on the pathogenesis of rosacea including the identification of genetic factors and gene loci that predispose affected patients to a rosacea phenotype.
7. Analyze evidence-based data on acne treatment options in order to improve treatment outcomes and improve patient adherence to therapy.
8. Examine emerging clinical and therapeutic science insights into the pathogenesis and effective management of atopic dermatitis.
9. Summarize the recently published AAD clinical guidelines on the management of atopic dermatitis
10. Discuss the role of the innate and adaptive immune system function in normal skin and how changes in the immune system may contribute to inflammatory disease.
11. Assess evidence-based data on the relationship between psoriasis comorbidities and therapeutic selection.
12. Identify the psoriasis patient population that would benefit most from treatment with biologic response modifiers.
13. Indicate the types of superficial fungal infection presenting in the dermatology setting.
14. Formulate optimal treatment plans for difficult to treat onychomycosis and cutaneous superficial fungal infections including tinea pedis, tinea cruris and tinea corporis.
